LENINE, RUSSIAN PREMIER, DEAD HUERTA PLANS TO MINE HARBORS COUNTY SEAT HAS $50,000 FIRE GARAGE, HOME, AND COLORED CHURCH RAZED

Was Notable Figure in Europe and Exponent of Bolshevik Movement, a Force Feared by Every Nation in World—Career Filled With Adventure.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—Nikolai Lenin, premier of Soviet Russia, is dead.
The end came at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon but death was not announced for some time afterward.
News of his death, while not unexpected to those who had been closest to him in the Soviet councils came unexpectedly at this time to the great majority as the most recent reports had been that he was considerably improved in health. While there has been continuous anxiety for his condition since he was stricken in 1922, public attention has lately been more directed to the differences among the Communist party leaders and particularly to the status of Leon Trotsky, who was recently announced was in poor health and had gone away for a rest.

Little has been said publicly in Soviet official quarters lately of Lenin's condition but that little seemed to be of a hopeful nature and it was not long ago that some of the associates of his active days were predicting that he would soon be able to advise with the council of ministers.
Lenin's death in Moscow, where he had been living in retirement, it came after a sudden turn for the worse, culminating in a stroke which paralyzed his respiratory organs. An announcement of his death was made by the all-Russian soviet this morning.
Representatives of foreign diplomatic missions and others with whom the correspondent talked after the announcement, agreed in expressing the opinion that Lenin's death would have an important political effect. So long as he was alive, although not actively participating in the government he was at least its titular head and his death now opens the position to other leaders.

Nikolai Lenin, lawyer, pamphleteer, and finally dictator of all Russia, was the organizer and chief exponent of the movement which became known as Bolshevism, and which he characterized as "the great experiment, the Dictatorship of the Proletariat."
The career of this short, plump, bald-headed little man, who turned Russia topsy turvy and probably of the world as well, was full of adventure from his boyhood. He was a revolutionist at school, at the academy, at his university, and even after Vladimir Ilyich Ulanov. He was born April (Continued on Page Three.)

WILL QUESTION FALL AS TO HOW HE GOT $100,000

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Former secretary Albert B. Fall has been subpoenaed by the Senate public lands committee investigating the Teapot Dome oil leases to appear before it for further examination.
Meanwhile, it was revealed that the department of justice, acting upon the personal direction of President Coolidge, is "observing" the course of the Senate investigation.
The president intends to take no other action, however, as long as the committee's inquiry is continued.
The purpose of the department's observation is to take note of any evidence of irregular or illegal actions on the part of anyone which may develop in the course of the inquiry.

The committee will ask him again regarding the sources from which he obtained $100,000 in 1921 to enlarge his ranch holdings in New Mexico. The former secretary of the interior is now on record before the committee asserting that he obtained the money from Edward B. McLean, the Washington newspaper publisher, but he later has testified that the check was given Mr. Fall by returned ambassador G. S. Stanford, counsel for the Grimes? oil interests, who held Teapot Dome leases, was subpoenaed to appear at today's hearing for questioning about the alleged payment of $85,000 which figured in the sensational testimony given yesterday. Arthur Roosevelt testified he had been told by G. S. Stanford's secretary, Henry F. Sinclair, that he had seen cancelled checks for $85,000 made out to the foreman of the Fall ranch, but Mr. Waldberg later took the stand and said he never made such a statement.

Stanford and other officials of the Sinclair interests the committee also sought evidence today regarding the check books and other records of the various Sinclair companies.

TOWN TOPICS

The four tellers appointed to canvass the ballot returned by members of the Chamber of Commerce, these determining the new board of directors of fifteen, will re-check their figures this afternoon. While the names of the winning fifteen chosen from thirty nominations will not be officially announced until Friday night when the annual banquet is held, it was learned today that the board is a representative one and made up of members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Young Men's Business Club, recently merged with the older organization. The vote is further said to have been heavy and to have been representative, with some of those elected winning by such narrow margins as four and five votes. It is the closeness of some of the directors that caused a recount this afternoon in order to prevent any mistake being made in the final certification of results to the membership on Friday night.

The contract for the building of the new city home will be signed just as the original bids which were recently modified have been reduced to writing in detail and presented to the city purchasing agent. The contract which is now being drawn up and which will be submitted to City and County boards for their official approval will be carefully scrutinized by the purchasing agent before it is signed, he said today, because of the fact that the appropriation will not permit a building in excess of that figure.

With the lowest point reached by the thermometer last night, officially recorded by the government thermometer as eight degrees above zero, members of the city were awakened this morning by a cold wind. Houses with exposed pipes were the first to suffer but the severity of last night's freeze was sufficient to cause trouble in many of the homes. One of the most serious concerns reported this morning that the entire force of men was engaged in thawing out pipes and that contract work had to be abandoned for the time being. He said that it was probably typical of others in the city. In some places precipitation in the pipes had frozen and impeded the passage of gas leading to great discomfort. Such instances, however, were isolated. A cutting wind last night made the cold more searching and intense. At daylight today thermometers registered some showing five above zero.

T. Hashimoto a representative of the Ohara Institute of Social Research of Osaka, Japan, who is in this country investigating industrial welfare work, visited the Haverhill and Dan River cotton mill today. He was joined by A. and the Danville Y. M. C. A. He left on train today for Charlotte and other Carolina industrial cities.

Sales of tobacco at auction today in Danville are expected to eclipse the total amount of last year's sales. The method of sale during the entire season of 1922-23, according to James H. Wilson, who saw fit to pay his respects to those he termed as "strangers" and whom he expressed a desire to thank for their cooperation. The total amount of tobacco sold in Danville during the entire season last year was 27,474,436 pounds. Mr. Wilson declared that today would overshoot the mark and he expressed the further belief that thirty-five million pounds will be disposed of before the 1922-23 season comes to an end. The sales are expected to go on throughout the day. The two receiving stations of the "pool" organization are nonetheless busy today and the deliveries have been especially good, considering the weather, which is not conducive to ready handling of the leaf nor before day trips over country roads in open automobiles and wagons.

The first semester of the school year is closing today and promotion cards are being distributed among those children so fortunate as to have earned them. In the grades the new classes will be organized tomorrow and it is expected that a number of children who have been unable, by reason of congestion to enter the schools will be taken in tomorrow morning. There will be no interruption in the general work of the school and the reorganization is expected to take place smoothly. Principal Hall of the high school reported this morning that he expected to have about fifty new pupils who are expected to him at one o'clock next Thursday.

The Danville W. C. T. U. will hold its first business of the new year at Mount Vernon church ladies' parlor on Wednesday afternoon at half past three o'clock. Business of importance is expected to be transacted at this meeting.

Members of the Shelton Memorial church will give a cantata at the Lady Astor School on North Main street extension beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Plans of Rebel Leader to Place Explosives in Mexican Waters Hold Attention of Washington Officials

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The revolutionists' blockade of Tampico having been "postponed" American officials dealing with the Mexican situation concentrated their attention today on plans of Adolfo de la Huerta, the rebel leader, to mine the harbors of Frontera, Purta, Mexico, and Vera Cruz.

De la Huerta's notification to Consul Wood that he intended to place mines in the harbors brought an immediate warning from the state department that it reserved the right to adopt appropriate measures "such as an unwarranted threat against the commerce of the world" were carried out.

With Rear Admiral Magruder aboard the cruiser Richmond off Tampico ready "to protect adequately the peaceful and legitimate" American commerce and authorized "to take any action over the situation in government circles has somewhat relaxed.

Alvarez Castillo, personal representative referring to the American blockade of the Gulf of Mexico, in a statement today, the laying of mines, said it was his understanding that "a neutral vessel to assure the safety" authorized pilots were to be furnished.

ANOTHER CITY REPORTED IN HANDS OF FEDERAL

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
TAMPICO, Jan. 22.—Announcement that the federal armies had taken Guadaluajara, capital of Jalisco, caused great excitement here. The federal forces are continuing their efforts to rid the oil region of rebels and General Pablo Macias, with 1,500 men is preparing an advance upon the insurgents at San Miguel.

Colonel Alvarez, left Tampico for Ciudad Victoria, with a force of 1,000 troops, artillery and machine guns. It is reported here that part of the federal garrison at Ciudad Victoria, which is the capital of Tamaulipas, have taken possession of the city after staging a revolt.

CLAUDE YEATTS, 12 YEAR SCHOOL BOY IS MISSING

Search was instituted in earnest today for Claude Yeatts, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Yeatts, of Middle street, who left home yesterday morning, with his books, for a walk near Jackson school and who has not been heard from since.

In the belief that the boy would return to his home sometime during the evening, the police were not notified at first. Late last night, however, informed, however, that the boy was missing, today detailed Officers F. G. Towell and L. O. Beiton to take up the search for the missing boy whose disappearance has mystified his parents.

The lad is a nephew of Miss Home Yeatts, an attaché of the Community Welfare Association, who with other members of the household, are prosecuting their search this morning with growing anxiety.

The only clue the only suggested theory for the boy's absence—is that he had taken a rifle which the boy owned is also missing. It is thought possible that he would go hunting as he was fond of this sport. Overlooked by his parents, he may have found shelter in a farmhouse but even at that his parents failed to understand why he had not at least appeared. Other possibilities were that he had been taken away.

NIKOLAI LENINE
Rotarians Hear Dr. Winfield Hall; Is Guest of Club

The Danville Rotary Club had as its guest of honor today Dr. Winfield Hall, of the Northwestern University of Chicago who is here for a two days lecture engagement under the auspices of the Danville and Schofield Young Men's Christian Associations.

Dr. Hall in his talk to the Rotarians stressed the responsibility of the citizen to the state and to the world. "Danville is fortunate," said Dr. Hall, "in having organizations of business men who are willing to give time and money in backing the work of the Y. M. C. A. and boy scouts. The Danville Camp last summer is practical evidence of your interest in the boys of Danville. We must back in the future that there are some things which a boy needs that money will not buy. I refer to good plain fatherly advice upon subjects which ought to be frankly discussed which ought to be to his scouts and their boys but every boy in this community should have at the beginning of his adolescence."

Dr. Hall addressed the students of the Danville Military Institute at their regular chapel period this morning. This afternoon he spoke to women only at Rison Park school at 3:00 p. m. under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and Parent-Teachers Association.

At 4:30 p. m. he will speak at the Danville Y. M. C. A. and boy scouts. He will speak to men only at 8:00 p. m. he will speak to men only at the subject of "Efficient Manhood" at the Danville Y. M. C. A.

Suggestions On Redistricting of State's Circuit Courts Made—Other Matters Before Assembly.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 22.—Abolition of three judicial circuits and numerous changes in the others were recommended to the Virginia General Assembly today by the special legislative committee appointed to investigate and report on redistricting of the state's circuit courts.

The committee suggested that the eighth and fourteenth circuits be abolished immediately, and that on February 1, the thirtieth also be eliminated. Major changes were recommended in the third, fourth, eleventh, twelfth, eighteenth and twenty-ninth circuits. Slight changes were suggested in the second, seventh, ninth, twelfth, fifteenth, sixteenth, eighteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh and thirty-third circuits.

The committee further recommended that the salaries of circuit court judges be increased to $4,000 or more annually. The changes which it suggested were based on a study of the salaries of judges in other states.

The House passed its first two bills of the session today. One of them was the Price measure amending the code so as to allow courts to lease as well as sell property coming under their care.

The bill declaring milk an adulterated article and prohibiting its sale was passed by a vote of 80 to 0. Delegates Williams, Brown and Page offered amendments.

The Virginia Pilot Association under jurisdiction of the state corporation commission. The principal change in this measure and another offered by the committee was to delete the provision for the striking of the section compelling the association to open its records of the past five years to the public.

The measure provides that every pilot must submit an annual report to the commission and establishes penalties for refusal to obey orders of the commission.

Delegates Westcott, Roanoke, submitted a measure to take water supply utilities from the jurisdiction of the corporation commission and place them under the towns, cities and counties in which they are located.

A bill to create a second part of the law and equity court in Richmond was introduced by Delegates Crowder and Sheppard of Richmond.

In the Senate several measures designed to carry out recommendations of the commission on corporation and economy were submitted by Senator Gunn, Henrico.

A bill requiring ice cream factories to be registered with the dairy and food commissioners was advanced to third reading. Another measure providing a tax on bees to be used for bee culture was held on second reading following a long debate.

$50,000 FIRE GARAGE, HOME, AND COLORED CHURCH RAZED

The funeral of James Melvin Bernard, three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Bernard, Third avenue, who either strangled or suffocated while sleeping Sunday night between his mother and father, was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home. The body was taken to Malmaison, Va., where burial will take place in the family burial grounds.

The little child was recovered dead by its parents yesterday morning about 6:30 o'clock when they got up. The infant had slept between them all during the night. Mr. Bernard stated this morning that the child was alive as late as between 3 and 4 o'clock as it was heard to "fret and cry." He stated that the child was still warm when found dead. He and his wife on noting it to be him and lifeless lying on the bed, soon realized that life was extinct. A physician was called and after an examination expressed the belief that the child had died during its sleep. Besides his parents, the child is survived by two older brothers, Winifred Elmore, age 3 and Joseph Lee, age 6 years.

More Banks In Northwest Close

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Jan. 22.—Two banks in South Dakota closed yesterday due to heavy withdrawal and "businessmen" have declared immediate financial aid is necessary. Since January 1 because of depleted reserves.

State officials decline to comment on the situation pending the arrival of representatives of the federal government sent to the northwest by President Coolidge.

WILL NOT RE-OPEN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
HARRIS, Mont., Jan. 22.—Officials of the Security Bank of Harris announced that the bank would not open today. Steady withdrawal of funds brought the decision to close the institution. It was announced. The bank's statement of December 31 last showed approximately $750,000 in deposits. This amount has been reduced to about $500,000 officials said.

NAME OFFICIALS TO RELIEVE SITUATION

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Although the four federal officials named by President Coolidge to plan for the relief of the credit situation of banks and farmers in the northwest, have held two conferences with Chicago bankers and federal reserve bank officials, no statement regarding the situation has been made.

Henry M. Dawes, comptroller of the currency, a member of the investigating commission, said after last night's conference that he could not predict any statement regarding the situation. George R. James and J. H. Cunningham of the federal reserve board, and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, are the other members of the commission.

Officials will visit South Dakota, Nebraska and other middle western states of the wheat belt to investigate depression conditions.

5 CONCERNS CHARTERED TO DO BUSINESS HERE

Five local concerns have recently been granted charters by the state corporation commission most of these being new business, two of them being what might be termed re-organization.

Included in the list is the charter granted the Wilson-Fitzgerald Co., incorporated which will manufacture and purchase, sell and deal in real estate in this city. The maximum amount of capital stock is $100,000, each share having a valuation of $100.

Another interesting charter is that granted the Virginia Tobacco Curing Company, which will exploit the invention of James A. Johnson, which is a statement would be forth coming some time ago. This concern is chartered to manufacture and sell the oil burning tobacco curing device which was invented by Mr. Johnson and which has stood up well under practical tests which have been frequently made during the present tobacco season. The oil burner is said not only to permit the quicker raising Menacing Blaze Battled Hard in Near Zero Weather—Virginia Motor Garage, Jud Morris, tor Garage, Judson Morris Home, and Baptist Church Wiped Out.

(Special to The Bee)
CHATHAM, Jan. 22.—Fire early this morning destroyed three buildings on Depot street with loss estimated at more than $50,000. The buildings burned were the Virginia Motor Company operated by Beverly Sheth Morris, the residence of Judson Morris, and the Baptist church for colored people. All were completely destroyed.

The blaze started in the motor company but its origin is unknown. It was discovered shortly after three o'clock. The fire spread rapidly and had soon gutted the garage buildings in the morning, ending the dwelling, a two-story frame structure, and then the church. It was said that no insurance was carried on the garage or house.

In addition to the three buildings listed which were wiped out, eight automobiles in the garage at the time were destroyed in the flames. Credit was reached by the fire department this morning for having succeeded in confining the flames to the three buildings, which were well along by the time that the apparatus had reached the scene. The greatest danger lay in the ignition of the office building of the Law Brothers lumber yard, which would have set fire to the piles of lumber scattered about the place.

The fire started in the garage, possibly from a short circuit due to the unusually low temperature and the contraction of wires. Members of the household of E. L. Morris, first, the garage, which was a small building, was a two-story frame structure, and the Morris home, beginning to ignite. By the time the fire department which turned out promptly, it was too late. The fire had spread to the garage, casting a reflection which was seen for many miles. Gasoline tanks and tires in the garage which had become an inferno detonated, heavily from time to time.

This morning it developed that the colored Baptists were the only victims of the fire who had insurance. The loss was estimated in the following terms:

TRINKLE IS IMPRESSED WITH MEMORIAL TO LEE

(Associated Press Special Wire) RICHMOND, Jan. 22.—Gov. Trinkle was greatly impressed with the unveiling of General Robert E. Lee's head, as the first part of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial, at Atlanta Saturday.

"The head bears a resemblance to Virginia's great hero," the governor said today. The granite cuts like marble and it was demonstrated Saturday that the memorial is a practical project.

"It is impossible for one on the ground below the mountain to realize the magnitude of the great work. From the roadside, the figures outlined on the mountain appear the size of ordinary men. Saturday, thirty of us were served dinner while seated on General Lee's shoulder.

"It will take many years to complete the memorial. Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, during the project, is working night and day. He has a large picture of Lee that he keeps before him as he carves the figure of the leader. No blasting out by huge but the granite is cut by hand.

"A large number of men is employed in the work, but the finishing touches on the figures are being done by Borglum.

"It is a great undertaking, but it will be a lasting tribute to southern heroes in the war between the states.

Senator Layman of Craig, has offered a bill in the Senate providing that surplus funds arising from the motor vehicle tax, after using a sufficient amount to maintain the state highway system, shall be applied to the maintenance of a county road system and be apportioned in the same manner that state aid is given the counties.

Official have estimated approximately $1,000,000 more than the state's share for maintenance of the state highway system will be derived from the motor vehicle tax. The governor, in his message, recommended that the fund be diverted to construction of the state system.

Senator Layman said that if more money were expended on the feeder roads of the counties, the farmers would be better satisfied with the progress of highway construction and that improved service to the people would result.

"I appreciate the mention of my name in connection with the appointment of a successor to Leroy Hodges, director of the budget, but I have not been offered the place and could not say whether I would accept it until after the offer were made and given thorough consideration."

This statement was made today by Delegate J. Sinclair Brown, Roanoke county, when approached regarding reports that his name was being considered by Governor Trinkle as a successor to Mr. Hodges, who has resigned effective January 1.

Brown has served several years in the House of Delegates and is familiar with the duties of the director of the budget, and is a member of the House of Delegates.

Soft drinks, chewing gum and motion picture theatres would be taxed one per cent, under provisions of the measure.

The revenue would go to a road and school fund. The road share of the fund would be distributed on the state aid principle to the counties, and school portion would be divided among the school districts on the basis of the number of pupils between the ages of seven and twenty-seven.

hanged for an attempt upon the life of Czar Alexander III, which was organized by a terrorist organization of which he was a prominent member.

Lenine himself never was a member of any revolutionary organization, but he was a brother of the revolution. His active revolutionary work began in the early '90s, when he entered the University of Kazan, from which he graduated in 1893.

He then moved to Petrograd, at the end of the university, and studied for a lawyer's degree.

Through his almost whole life a fugitive from justice, forced to dodge furiously from one end of Europe to the other pursued by secret police, Nikolai Lenine found himself after the World War in a position of the world's greatest dominion, arbiter of the lives and deaths of 200,000,000 people, and a force feared by every world power.

Even the name Nikolai Lenine is a relic of the days when he was "wanted" by the police. For he invented it to mask his real identity when there was a price on his head.

Vladimir Ilyich Ulanoff—that is the real name of the Russian premier—was born April 10, 1870, in a small village in the government of Simbirsk.

His father was a peasant, a blacksmith, a pure Russian, but he had been in the nobility through official appointment. He was an inspector of schools.

Young Ulanoff attended the Simbirsk gymnasium, or high school, where his father was a teacher. Kereny, father of the Russian government in the period between the czar's fall and the accession of the bolsheviks.

Revolutionary at 17 When Ulanoff was only 17 his older brother, Alexander, was executed following his conviction of conspiracy to assassinate Czar Alexander III.

From that day Ulanoff was an ardent revolutionary. He swore to devote his life to destroying the regime which he regarded as his brother's murderer.

Having been graduated from the gymnasium, the young man went to the University of Kazan. But he soon was expelled for having engaged in revolutionary activities.

At 21 he took up law at the University of St. Petersburg. He obtained a degree but dropped practice after having played one case. He resolved to devote his time to instructing workmen in politics and economics.

Enraged but Undaunted In 1897 he organized a revolutionary association called the Union for the Liberation of the Artisan Class. The czar's agents straightway arrested him and he was exiled to Siberia.

Even there his revolutionary activities could not be stopped. He wrote books and pamphlets which were spirited back to the industrial centers. It was in Siberia that he adopted the name of Lenine.

His term of exile over, Lenine left Russia and traveled about Europe. He edited communist publications in Munich, Brussels, Paris, London and Geneva.

Meanwhile he studied, translated and wrote books and propaganda. He was continually in touch with the Russian revolutionary party.

When this party split in 1903 Lenine became head of one faction which took the name of bolsheviks.

Back to Russia When the czar's government began to totter in 1917, Lenine and 100 other revolutionary leaders were permitted to enter Russia through German territory.

The revolution which overthrew the Kereny regime and placed Lenine in power then came.

As a young student Lenine had married Nadezhda Krupskaya. She was his faithful aid in all his revolutionary work and was with him continuously in exile.

Today she is people's commissar for education in the soviet cabinet. She supervises the selection of text books for communist schools and herself is author of the first Russian novel in use, the first text of which reads: "We are no slaves."

Lenine always was poor. He ate only enough to live. He devoted almost every hour of the day and night to labor. He always dressed carelessly.

"The first aim of his whole life is the good of all mankind," said Maxim Gorky, Russian writer of Lenine. "He is the most tenacious and distinguished of men," said a British cabinet minister.

NO RADICAL CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION EXPECTED

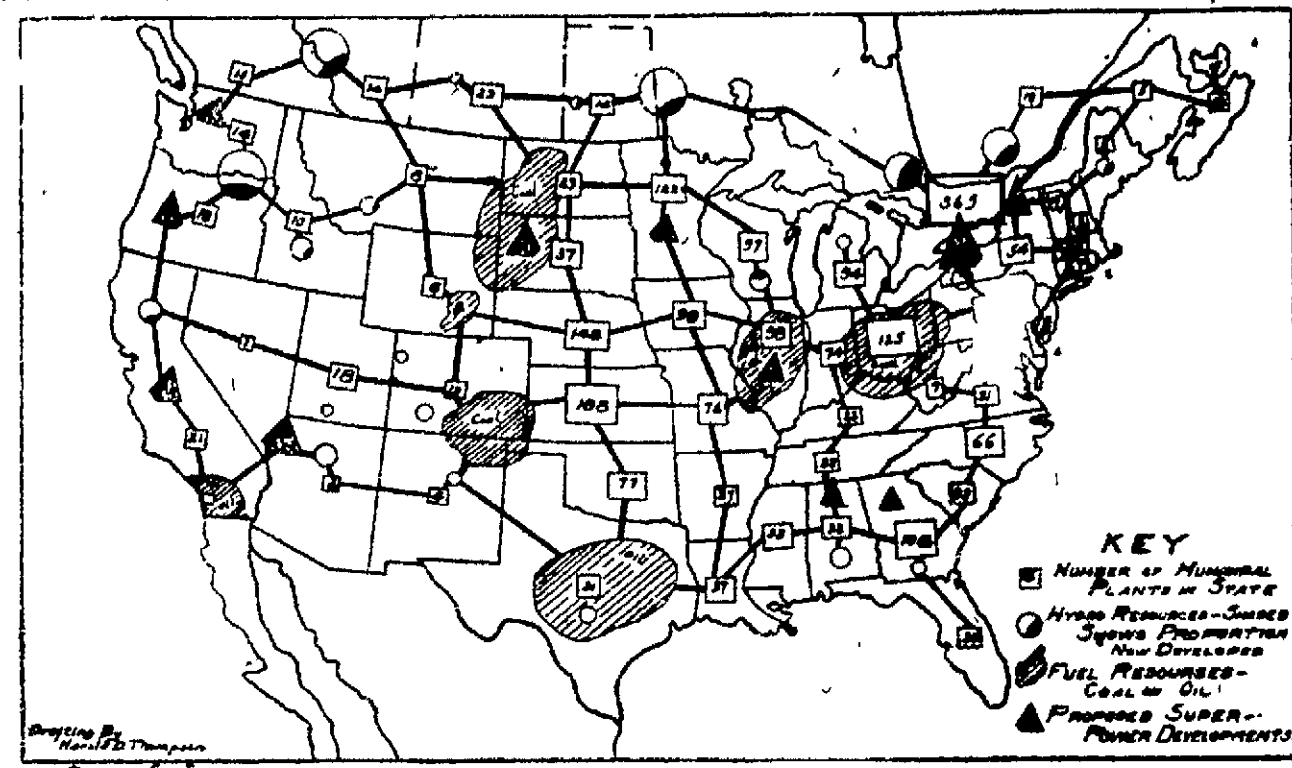

(Associated Press Special Wire) WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Whatever its ultimate effect on the tangle of Russian politics, close students of Russian affairs here do not expect the death of Lenine to result in any radical change in conditions in Russia or in the conduct of that country's foreign policy.

ELECTRICITY TOO CHEAP FOR METERS

HERE ARE FIGURES AND FACTS CONNECTED WITH THE PLAN TO WELD THE POWER RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA INTO ONE COLOSSAL SUPER-POWER PROJECT UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP. SIR ADAM BECK, CHAIRMAN, AND (RIGHT) CARL D. THOMPSON, SECRETARY OF THE PUBLIC OWNERSHIP LEAGUE OF AMERICA, CENTERED IN A CHART SHOWING THE PROPOSED MOBILIZATION OF POWER RESOURCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Light your home, cook your meals, wash and iron your clothes, run your sewing machine and clean your house—

for less than a dollar a month! Get electrically the equivalent of 12 hired men on your farm, for 60 cents a day!

With electricity so cheap that it will not pay to install meters and keep accounts!

Coupling a moderate play of imagination with engineering facts, Carl D. Thompson presents this as the outcome of the "super-power project."

Thompson is secretary of the Public Ownership League of America. One of its goals is mobilization of all available electric power in the United States and Canada into one public owned system.

"Is it practical?" Thompson counters this question. "It is demonstrated reality already. The rates of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada, is proof. More than a million customers of this system use current at an average cost of 2

1-2 cents per kilowatt hour. In American cities, we average three times that much.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario system, fought until this became a reality. He is active now as president of the Public Ownership League, in making a unit of power production in the two countries."

Super-power means simply more and cheaper electricity supplied from a unit system which generates by both "superpower and steam plants."

20,000,000 horsepower now run away down our stream beds would be harnessed into the system. Coal, instead of being hauled in bulk, would turn dynamos at the mine mouth and send out its energy by wire.

A federal super-power commission to direct and control the development is the first step to realize the dream, says Thompson. It would not only develop generating plants but lay out main trunk lines for distribution of current. The 21318 municipally owned electric plants, some of them in every American state, would be the starting points to be linked into the new system.

For hydro-electric production, attention would center upon the Colorado, Columbia and Mississippi River systems, and Niagara Falls and the St. Lawrence River. Muscle Shoals would be kept under public control, completed and placed in service.

Next would be the Boulder Canyon dam on the Colorado River, for which a bill already has been introduced in Congress. This dam would be 600 feet high, cost $40,000,000 furnish 750 continuous horsepower and irrigate 1,000,000 acres.

HERE ARE FIGURES AND FACTS CONNECTED WITH THE PLAN TO WELD THE POWER RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA INTO ONE COLOSSAL SUPER-POWER PROJECT UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP. SIR ADAM BECK, CHAIRMAN, AND (RIGHT) CARL D. THOMPSON, SECRETARY OF THE PUBLIC OWNERSHIP LEAGUE OF AMERICA, CENTERED IN A CHART SHOWING THE PROPOSED MOBILIZATION OF POWER RESOURCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Light your home, cook your meals, wash and iron your clothes, run your sewing machine and clean your house—

for less than a dollar a month! Get electrically the equivalent of 12 hired men on your farm, for 60 cents a day!

With electricity so cheap that it will not pay to install meters and keep accounts!

Coupling a moderate play of imagination with engineering facts, Carl D. Thompson presents this as the outcome of the "super-power project."

Thompson is secretary of the Public Ownership League of America. One of its goals is mobilization of all available electric power in the United States and Canada into one public owned system.

"Is it practical?" Thompson counters this question. "It is demonstrated reality already. The rates of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada, is proof. More than a million customers of this system use current at an average cost of 2

1-2 cents per kilowatt hour. In American cities, we average three times that much.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario system, fought until this became a reality. He is active now as president of the Public Ownership League, in making a unit of power production in the two countries."

Super-power means simply more and cheaper electricity supplied from a unit system which generates by both "superpower and steam plants."

20,000,000 horsepower now run away down our stream beds would be harnessed into the system. Coal, instead of being hauled in bulk, would turn dynamos at the mine mouth and send out its energy by wire.

A federal super-power commission to direct and control the development is the first step to realize the dream, says Thompson. It would not only develop generating plants but lay out main trunk lines for distribution of current. Dictator of Soviet Russia Passes Away 24, 1870 in the town of Simbirsk, of a bourgeois family, was a pronounced Tatar strain reflected in Lenine's high cheek bones and slightly slanting, cynical eyes. His father was responsible master at a communal school at Simbirsk, among the very well known among the school teachers of his district. Lenine himself attended the high school at Simbirsk, and by a strange coincidence his principal was the father of Alexander Kereny, who became premier of Russia.

The spirit of revolution against the czar entered into practically every Russian school in those days, and Lenine, with some of his companions, as said to have smuggled the works of Karl Marx on socialism into the school and to have read them with all the secret fear of discovery that American schoolboys have of being caught with a dime novel hidden behind their geography.

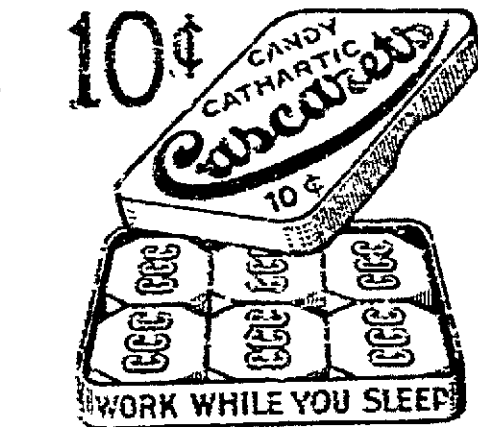

Kereny reported that Lenine was a very studious pupil, introspective in his thoughts and shy in his relations with his schoolmates. When Lenine was 17 his eldest brother, Alexander Ulanoff, was sentenced to death and

WOUNDED MAN KNOWS LITTLE ABOUT AFFRAY

(Associated Press Special Wire) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—Having shaken hands with Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil man, whom he shot and seriously wounded here New Year's night, and heard Dines say with a smile "that's all right old man," Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, screen actress, prepared today to sit through what was expected to be the concluding session of his preliminary hearing on a charge of attempting to kill the Denver man with Miss Normand's pistol.

At the Good Samaritan hospital late yesterday, Dines, testifying from his bed at an extraordinary session of Justice J. Walter Hanby's court, declared he did not remember what Greer said when he saw him New Year's night; did not see any pistol in the chauffeur's hand; did not remember whether he picked up a bottle when Greer entered his apartment; and sought to persuade Miss Normand to leave, and could not say of his own knowledge that it was Greer who shot him.

Earlier in the day Miss Normand, flashing a smile and a friendly "hello" towards Greer as he took the witness stand, told her story of the shooting before a crowded court room while Greer chewed gum and listened closely. Her memory was hazy to much of what transpired in Dines' apartment New Year's night, but she was sure she did not see the shooting. She was with Edna Purviance, another motion picture actress, in a bed room adjoining the room where the shooting occurred, she said.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though so disagreeable, is a sign of age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger—adv.

CHAMPION GIRL ATHLETE

By GEORGE BRUIT

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—"The champion all-around girl athlete of the world," declares Tom Eck, famous track coach of the University of Chicago. And he is talking about a little, smiling, black-eyed high school girl who is not yet 18 years old.

She is Helen Filkey, daughter of a Chicago building contractor. Four world's records and 3 American records make up her imposing achievement to date. She was born March 15, 1908.

"She is the only person, girl or boy, who ever made a world's record on a won athletic championship at her age," says Eck, who is her trainer.

"This coming season, outdoor and indoor, ought to bring some great performances from her. She expects to break every record she now holds and to add a few more to her list."

Break Two Records.
 Helen's greatest single day was on Labor Day last fall at the A. A. U. national outdoor meet in Chicago, when she broke two records. She made 16 feet 6 3/8 inches in the broad jump, a world's record for girls, and made the 100-yard dash in 11.9 seconds, a new American record for girls.

Then, with only a 12-minute rest between events, she entered the 75-yard high hurdles and finished second in 11 3/5 seconds. In the running high jump she finished fourth, going 4 feet 8 inches.

"To show she was a better hurdler than the girl who defeated her," says Eck, "Helen ran a flat against time at another meet last fall. She went 75 yards over six hurdles in 10.6 seconds, breaking the record by one second."

Was Delicate Child.
 "In an exhibition at Washington Park here she threw a two-pound discus 76 feet 3 inches and threw the girl's javelin 87 feet 9 inches, the latter being the best American throw, although it does not stand as a record. She also made 8 feet 1 1/2 inches in the standing broad jump without dumbbells."

"At an earlier meet here, staged by the Illinois Athletic Club, she won the 50-yard dash and in winning the 60-yard high hurdle race set a pace of 8 4/5 seconds, equaling the world's record. The same day she broke the world's 60-yard low hurdle record in 8 2/5 seconds."

Helen Filkey was a delicate child until she was about 11 years old. Her mother took her to California for a year then, and she began her remarkable physical development by playing on the beach and taking athletic training. At 16 she looks up as the world's greatest athlete.

Says "Immoral" Film No Worse Than Real Life

By M. S. NEWTON
 (Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

QUEBEC, Jan. 22.—Seizure of the film "Flaming Youth" as violently immoral, and arrest of the Quebec theatre owner who exhibited the picture—all after the provincial board of motion picture censors had passed it as O. K. has given the ancient city of Quebec something to gossip about.

It is doubtful which is the greater sensation—the seizure of the picture or the recent edict of Cardinal Beign forbidding modern dancing and extremes of dress and behavior in his diocese. There is a connection between the two because ever since the cardinal's pronouncement, prominent members of the Catholic church have been zealous critics of all amusements.

It was Judge Choquette who, having witnessed the objectionable picture, ordered the film seized and the exhibitor arrested. The theatre owner, appearing for trial pleaded that the provincial board of censors had passed the film as harmless.

The court ruled that the laws are province over-ruled decisions of the censors, but that it wanted to hear the views of the chief censor. After the film has been run off in court for the benefit of the jury, the chairman of the Quebec board of censors was called.

He testified that while he had ordered a few cuts, it was his expert opinion that the film was a picture of the so-called best society in Quebec; that the dances were the same as those to be witnessed in Quebec nightly until Cardinal Beign's axe fell and that the kissing was rather moderate than not, the court reserved decision.

CONSERVATIVES MEET FIRST DEFEAT

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Conservative government headed by Stanley Baldwin met defeat in the House of Commons tonight and for the first time in the history of England Labor government will probably take office.

The Labor amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, introduced in the House by John Robert Clynes, deputy leader of the Parliamentary Labor party, on January 17, was adopted tonight by a vote of 225 to 206. J. Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, himself moving closure which was agreed to.

"But it is our duty," he said, "to submit to your majesty that you have the confidence of the House."

The Labor party had the support of Herbert H. Asquith, former premier and leader of the United Liberals.

Speakers at the noon day thrift meetings held today at the Riverside mills and the Boatwright Furniture factory were Messrs. P. W. Ashworth, Alfred Patton, H. M. Martin, Rev. P. W. Mickel and Rev. J. S. Dunnington. Today is being observed as "Open Your Home Day," and this phase of thrift was specially emphasized by the speakers.

Tomorrow is the closing day of thrift week and is designated as "Make a Will Day." Noon day shop meetings are scheduled to close tomorrow but additional thrif fairs are to be made in the various public schools by Danville business men later on in the week. Next week school children are to write essays upon thrift in general and upon several phases of thrift which have been emphasized throughout thrift week.

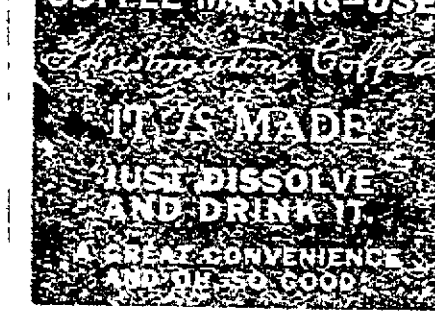

Thousands of Danville people have had the thrif message brought forcibly to their attention during the week which is now drawing to a close. It is believed that the community is much the better both financially and in many other ways because of the observance of national thrift week.

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

"When I stopped writing you yesterday, Sally dear, it was because I had just received a wire from Dick, saying he was coming east with Paula Perier, and he wanted me to meet them in Chicago. He asked that I answer the message immediately for they were starting the next day.

For a little while, Sally, I did not know what to do. I am quite sure that Dick is in love with this moving picture actress who seems to fascinate all men.

Of course I am too proud to keep him if he is in love with another woman. Because of a foolish vanity on my part I suppose I want to dismiss him in my own way and at my own time. At least I do not want to go to Chicago to be compared with Paula Perier. I am sure that Dick will think it is because I do not want to meet her and will put it down to jealousy, but I will have to risk being misunderstood.

How can I ever understand the feelings of a woman toward "the other woman." I have come to think, Sally, that when a man gets to the point where he wants to be off with the old love and on with the new, most women are perfectly willing to let him go, provided they can do so without shattering their pride. But you see, both the man and the woman in the case want to make the world feel that he or she is the one who is tired.

You didn't think I was as small as this, did you, Sally? I didn't think so either, but after all of the protestations on Dick's part which he made to me publicly as to me alone, it hurts my pride grievously to know that so soon afterward he has transferred that thing which he designates as love to some other woman.

I know that now, when Dick thinks of me, it is with a feeling of discontent, which, although he has tried to keep a description of it out of his letters, I have come more and more to read through all the lines. Now, Sally, comes the dreadful part of my story. I find that I am like the proverbial dog in the manger. Although I cannot have Dick, although he has lost his particular interest in me, I do not want him to be interested in anyone else. Can you imagine that of me?

I am not jealous of Paula Perier, but I am jealous of Dick's love. You see, Sally, my problem in love could be written on the other side of your shoe. You want to leave Sam, because you are interested in someone much younger than yourself. You want to leave that young man because you do not want to fall in love with him to such an extent that you will be "well lost for love." I want to keep Dick, not because I particularly care for him any more, but because I hate to send him out of my life.

You can readily see in my present state of mind that I am not a good adviser for you on the subject, and so I am just going to say that after I have decided my own course of action I will write you again.

Lovingly,
 "BEE."

CONVENTION OF MINE WORKERS UNION BEGINS

Unemployment One of Main Problems—Sees No Hope For Howatt to Be Re-Installed.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—International President John L. Lewis called the 29th biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America to order at 10 o'clock this morning.

Before facing the 1,900 delegates, representing the five thousand local unions and half a million members of the organization, he talked with newspapermen.

"My annual report is brief," he said, and is given over chiefly to a survey of conditions in the field. Unemployment is one of the outstanding problems. All reports concerning the next wage scale are guess work.

"There will be demonstrations," he said when Alexander Howatt's reinstatement is proposed but there is a difference between noise and action. Only 50 of the 5,000 locals have sent representatives asking that he be taken back and district 12 (Illinois) has withdrawn its official support from him. That district gave him $100,000 when his fight was at its height.

"I expect he will appear and ask for the privilege of addressing the convention, President Lewis continued but he was extended that courtesy two years ago and took advantage of it. While Howatt has been going up and down through the land as a propagandist, August Doherty, vice president of the Kansas district with him, has gone back to work in Kansas and has gotten his reinstatement. I think there is no hope for Howatt in this convention."

President Lewis indicated without making a positive statement that he had for a revival of the wage contract which is in effect now. "There have only been a few resolutions," he said, "demanding an increase. There are several demanding shorter working hours, but this is an ideal for which the country is not ready. It was included in the demands of the last convention and is eminently desirable but at this time impracticable. "There are resolutions from several states asking that the provision in the constitution against membership in the Ku Klux Klan be withdrawn. It was written in when the Klan was first organized. It provided expulsion as a penalty whenever Klan membership is proved, but who can prove it? I know some Illinois miners who are members and they are living in fear that I'll find it out. They need it. Who will prove they are members?"

"There also are resolutions denouncing the Klan in strong language. All of them, pro and con, will be referred to the committee on constitution."

Regarding the proposed fight of radicals to take the appointive power from him President Lewis said that election of all officers now appointed would be highly impractical. There are too many of them he said.

AND NOW IT'S STANDARDIZATION OF HUMANS

WHEN MISS LYDIA HUTCHISON HITS BROADWAY (LEFT) SHE IS ONE OF THE REGULARS FROM HAT TO SHOES, EVEN THOUGH SHE MAY LOOK LIKE THIS (RIGHT) AT HOME.

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Civilization's a wonderful thing and if it keeps on at the present rate it's going to leave a lot of us folks with about as much individuality as a row of cough drops.

We'll all become as standardized as phonograph records or the parts of a diver.

As witness Miss Lydia Hutchison. Lydia lives out in Ashton, Idaho, where the thousand or so inhabitants get a lot of excitement out of staging dog races when the weather climbs down to 15 below zero. Lydia's no slouch at excitement herself, being the only lady ever to race a dog. She and when she rolled into New York the other day to give the big town the once over, a lot of inhabitants wandered down to the station to see what she looked like.

They sort of expected she'd stick her head out of one those fur hoods which, according to the movies, is the only thing a northern lady'd think of wearing in cold weather.

But say, Lydia's earrings were just as large and resplendent as any that ever gleamed between 34th and 42nd streets. Her suit was just the "come as you are" distance from the curb, and her hat was one of those little cloche affairs with a flummy diddle on the side that might have been put there by the practiced hand of a Fifth Avenue modiste.

You could see at a glance that Lydia had been raised on corn flakes, that she ate cream puffs made out of canned milk, that she'd ridden in Ford cars, read the Saturday Evening Post and chewed spearmint gum because she likes nice things.

Lydia looked at the New Yorkers and the New Yorkers looked at Lydia. The disappointment was mutual. "It was the same way in Salt Lake City and Detroit and Chicago," complained Lydia. "They told me I'd like this trip here because I'd see so many strange things. When I got to Chicago, I thought maybe I'd get a tip on a new way to do my hair, but say, we were doing our hair that way out in Ashton six months ago."

"Never mind," said the New Yorkers. "We'll take you to a cabaret and show you a wild time."

So they took Lydia to a cabaret where a lot of people were sitting around at little tables. "Look Lydia," said the New Yorkers. "see what fun."

"If you call that fun," said Lydia, "you must come out to Tudor City place in Ashton some time."

"But that's a fellow," pleaded the New Yorkers, "ain't he a scream?"

Lydia yawned. "You," she said, "should see Togo Manning on Pioneer Day."

"The girls, though," said the New Yorkers, "pretty nifty, eh?"

"There's not a one of 'em," said Lydia, "that could hold a candle to Mrs. Butch Stone."

One of the New Yorkers asked Lydia if she wouldn't like to dance. Lydia would and pretty soon everybody else stopped dancing to watch Lydia dance.

"I thought maybe I'd get a tip on a new way to do my hair, but say, we were doing our hair that way out in Ashton six months ago."

"Never mind," said the New Yorkers. "We'll take you to a cabaret and show you a wild time."

So they took Lydia to a cabaret where a lot of people were sitting

Railway Strikers In Great Britain Gaining Strength

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
LONDON, Jan. 22.—The second day of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen strike in protest against a wage reduction found the men and the railway companies proclaiming that their respective positions were gaining strength.

Late reports from the provincial centers were far from reassuring to the thousands of people who use the railways. Not only were the men standing firm, said these advisers, but in some places they were being joined by considerable numbers of engineers proclaiming that their respective positions were gaining strength.

A review of the numerous telegrams given an impression that the strike is spreading.

The coal districts fear that the miners soon will have to cease work if the tie up continues, owing to a lack of means for moving the output, while the industrial centers, depending upon coal for operating their plants, fear enforced idleness because of inability to obtain supplies.

Take Up New Tax Schedule

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Republican members of the house ways and means committee conferred with Chairman Green today on a program for consideration of the next tax rate schedules while party leaders were busy determining the extent to which they must compromise on the Mellon plan.

Despite the administration's stand against modification of the Mellon scheme in its major principles, House majority members declare a compromise, particularly on sur tax rates, is necessary. This compromise, it has been indicated by Representative Longworth, O., majority leader, will be sought in committee in an effort to avoid a fight on the floor.

BOK OFFERS TO DUPLICATE HIS $100,000 PRIZE

Tells Committee He Will Finance Any Plan Selected by The mas the Best—Reiterates There was No Personal Influence Behind His Prize.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—An offer to duplicate his $100,000 prize to the author of any peace plan, selected by the Senate select committee investigating propaganda, was made today by Edward W. Bok in a letter to Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, chairman of the committee.

"I will also agree," Mr. Bok wrote, "to defray the expenses of a nationwide referendum, if desired, and in all respects give the plan which your committee selects the same financial support as recorded by me to the present plan."

Explaining that his offer had been influenced by the information at yesterday's meeting of the committee, that it was predicated in favor of a particular kind of plan, Mr. Bok denied that this was the case or that the jury of award was selected with the same predisposition.

With regard to the cost of the American peace award campaign, its backer declared he did not have the definite information required by the committee but suggested that Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., treasurer of the award, should be summoned.

Taxi Gangster Gets Ten Year Term In Pittsylvania Court

(Special to The Bee.)
CHATHAM, Va., Jan. 22.—James Reed, negro, alias James Russell, pleaded guilty here yesterday afternoon before Judge Turner Clement to a felonious assault on Floyd Stanfield, also colored, and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

Reed admitted driving Stanfield to a lonely spot near Danville and attacking him from the rear seat, rendering him unconscious. He dragged the man's body from the car and left it by the roadside where he finally came to himself and gave the alarm. Reed was captured at South Boston with the stolen car. The machine used in the assault was a 1921 Buick.

The grand jury adjourned yesterday evening after bringing in more than thirty true bills of indictment. Among these was one against Clarence Mahaffey who is charged with a felonious assault on J. I. Tew who went before the grand jury yesterday. This case has been passed by until Monday when a date for hearing will be set. The Dixon murder case also will be set for trial on that day. Court was engaged today in disposing of a multitude of liquor cases, many pleading guilty and all of them receiving jail terms in addition to fines.

SCHOOLS WILL PRESENT ARGUMENTS FOR LARGER APPROPRIATION TONIGHT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

RICHMOND, Jan. 22.—Virginia schools and colleges desiring larger appropriations than recommended in Governor Trinkle's budget will present their arguments before a meeting of the joint finance appropriation committee of the assembly tonight.

The budget recommended appropriations for the next biennium amounting to $28,750,000—figure within $50,000 of the total estimated revenue for the period. Senator Byrd, 46th district, chairman of the State democratic executive committee and a member of the joint committee, has attacked the governor's recommendations, declaring that no provision has been made for the State deficit of approximately $1,800,000. He has urged a reduction to relieve the deficit.

Governor Trinkle has not related from his position that an increase in revenues, included in the budget estimates for the next two years will reduce, or eliminate the deficit. In a statement yesterday he expressed the opinion the appropriations have been reduced as much as possible.

Believes Clement's Chances In Caucus Unusually Good

Attorneys in the Seventh Judicial District, over which Judge Turner Clement presides, are awaiting with keen speculation the outcome of the Democratic caucus to be held in Richmond tomorrow night, at which the Supreme Court, now about to retire, will be nominated. It goes without saying that the man chosen by the caucus will be the choice of the legislature.

One Danville attorney who was in the caucus in Richmond and who has no axe to grind in the matter, stated today that Judge Clement stands an excellent chance of being elected to the Supreme Court bench.

He said he found a strong backing for the Chatham jurist among the "dry" element which, despite the lack of any prohibition issue at the present time, is making itself felt while Judge Clement's attitude on the question of cooperative marketing is known to be friendly which therefore makes him attractive to this powerful group. The work of Senator Nat Clement, his brother, has also proved effective in winning converts to the Clement faction. The attorney in question declared that the principal obstacle which Judge Clement will have to surmount will be the fact that he is from a district remote from Southwestern Virginia from which Judge Clement has been elected.

Serious as is the objection to Southwest Virginia which is not so staunchly Democratic as other quarters of Virginia, the inference being that the question of geographical location of the candidates may prove an entirely secondary consideration in making the choice. Congressman Hooker has been in Richmond working in behalf of Judge Clement and some prominent attorneys from the Seventh Circuit have cleared that the Dixon murder case also will be set for trial on that day. Court was engaged today in disposing of a multitude of liquor cases, many pleading guilty and all of them receiving jail terms in addition to fines.

Caswell Co-Ops Feel Certain of New Warehouse

The warehouse board of the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association has announced its approval of a project launched recently by Caswell county looking to the erection there of a delivery warehouse and storage plant. This formal approval paves the way to a mass meeting which it is reported will be held in the near future at Yanceyville at which time arrangements will be made for participation in the cost of building the warehouse. According to present tentative plans the building will be complete and ready to operate by the Fall of 1924. The motive impelling this undertaking is declared to be a certain sense of dissatisfaction and a desire to build up Yanceyville as a "Coop" receiving plant.

The initiative will now be taken, it is reported, by leaders of the Caswell local to call the mass meeting. C. H. Vernon, president of the Caswell county local, has received a letter in which has been notified of the approval by the association's warehouse board for the undertaking.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 50c.

Efforts Made to Get Dempsey to Come to Danville

PLANS CALL FOR HIS APPEARANCE ON JANUARY 29

L. C. Moody, local sports promoter is trying to get Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, to appear in Danville on January 29th to give an exhibition of his prowess.

Reading this morning that Dempsey was on an Eastern tour with sporting partners, and that he would make his initial appearance at Raleigh, N. C., on January 30th, Mr. Moody this morning telegraphed to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, asking him if it would be possible to make a date for Danville on the preceding day, January 29th.

JACK DEMPSEY

The telegram, addressed to Hot Springs, Ark., where Kearns is now stopping, ran:

"Can you have Mr. Dempsey appear in this city Jan. 29? Your booking says Raleigh, N. C., January 30th, just a few miles from here. Answer, please."

Mr. Moody stated that he felt certain that he could gather a big crowd in Danville to see the world's champion in action with his sporting partners, and that the bout would be fully within the local restrictions placed in this state upon boxing. If the exhibition can be arranged, it will be held probably in the Municipal Hall. Mr. Moody expressed readiness to change the proposed date to one which would suit the famous leather-pusher.

BOXING ASS'N. BEGINS SECOND DAY'S SESSION

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 22.—Delegates to the annual meeting of the National Boxing Association representing nine states and Cuba plunged into the work of the second day's session today heartened by the belief that one question that had bothered participants at former meetings had been settled.

At the close of the opening day's session yesterday, delegates announced a solution to the problem of fixing percentages to be given headline attractions at boxing shows at last had been found. The formula, as outlined, was for each state commission to confer with every boxing promoter operating in the state and request him to limit his remuneration for headlines to fifty per cent. of the gross receipts after the percentage accruing to the state had been deducted.

It was anticipated that a proposal that commission of boxing be named to exercise authority over matters pugilistic again would be the target for discussion today. The proposal was advanced at the opening day's session by William F. Miller, secretary of the American Athletic Union, and the commission who also sponsored William Mulon, former chairman of the New York state athletic commission, for the post.

"These fellows here have hooted at my proposal," Mr. Miller admitted later. "But I'm still strong for the idea and strong for Mr. Muldoon."

Many delegates professed to see no need for a boxing commissioner. Others in addition asserted that an organized effort to centralize boxing in New York was being made and added that the idea of a New Yorker for boxing commissioner was not to be entertained.

CLUB OWNERS TO MEET IN BOSTON

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—For the first time in history Boston is going to be the meeting of the American League club owners. Dan Johnson announced today that he had called the annual meeting of the league for the Hub on February 5. In addition to the ratification of the 1924 schedule, which is a mere formality as the states are already framed and cannot be changed, the league has a quantity of business matters to dispose of.

Rudy Has His Own Ideas About a Race

FOR THE GAME'S SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Whether or not you wish to see the world's champion in action with his sporting partners, and that he would make his initial appearance at Raleigh, N. C., on January 30th, Mr. Moody this morning telegraphed to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, asking him if it would be possible to make a date for Danville on the preceding day, January 29th.

According to a story from Nebraska, W. H. Munn, six feet five inches tall, tipping the beam at 250 pounds, who was a star forward on the university of Nebraska eleven, known to fame as a set-up for the toughest heavyweights and was sent to sleep, the advances say, in two rounds. So much for his ambition.

Every man to his trade. Jack Dempsey says there isn't money enough to induce him to play football. He says he is a football player opposite to Munn in a football game would care as badly as did Munn in the ring. There are too many rules that protect a man in a ring combat. The writer recalls that Pete Francis, the former Yale center, while serving in the navy in the war swept some deck wash down on the head of a fellow seaman, who in peace time was rather a well-known scrapper. Pete apologized, but the fighter wanted revenge. He led with his left, whereupon Pete made a football tackle, picked up the man, rapped his head against a stanchion and then laid him overboard.

Perhaps if Munn of Nebraska had been permitted any great latitude Jack Clifford might have been in a sorrier plight after their meeting than proved to be the case.

No one seems to know just what are the financial terms under which Laughton is coaching at Columbia. The best information the writer was able to get was that he received fifteen thousand from the athletic association and another fifteen thousand out of the salary, and out of this he paid his assistants and living expenses in New York.

MAIN ST. VICTORS IN S. S. LEAGUE

Main Street defeated Calvary in a Sunday School League game last night by the score of 26 to 8.

The Calvary team weakened by the loss of Roland and Kim Farley was no match for the fast moving Main Streeters who romped away to an 18 to 4 lead in the first half, mainly due to the remarkable shooting of Harris, who caged six field goals, some being difficult shots. The Main Street team showed some class team work and clever passing and did collect some shooting, while the Calvary boys lacked teamwork and passed in miserable fashion, a usual feature for this team, lack of practice together showed plainly in their work and Capt. Lea was kept covered by Main Street so well that he had few chances to shoot. Thompson and Estes played a close guarding game and rarely failed to break up plays that came down the floor, while the Dickinson boys passed cleverly and did some fine shooting. Main Street aided by their peppery manager, Hurd, are out for the pennant this year and by the form displayed last night will give every team in the league a fight to keep them from winning it. The line-up:

Main Street Calvary

Dan Dickinson F. H. Lea

D. Dickinson F. S. Lea

Harris G. Lewis

Thompson G. Berman

Estes F. Epperson

Field goals: H. Lea 2, S. Lea 1, Thompson 1, Harris 6, D. Dickinson 2, Dan Dickinson 3, Foul goals: H. Lea 0 out of 3, Lewis 0 out of 3, Berman 0 out of 3, Estes 0 out of 2, Thompson 2 out of 4, Harris 0 out of 1.

SCHEDULED BOUT NESTER-WIGGINS IS CANCELLED

(By the Associated Press)

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 21.—In a statement issued here today, it was announced that the bout scheduled for tomorrow night at West Palm Beach between Charles (Chuck) Wiggins and Mike Nester has been cancelled.

The Chuck Wiggins-Nester fight has been called off by the American Legion on account of press publicity regarding Wiggins' "conviction of a crime," the state said. The Legion also stated that Wiggins is now a fugitive from justice.

Wiggins was accused of escaping from the state penal farm, to which he had been sentenced on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

ROBERTSON APPLIES TO LANDIS FOR RETIREMENT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 22.—Dave Robertson, manager and star outfielder of the Richmond club of the Virginia League last season, has applied to Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball for voluntary retirement from the game. Robertson was traded recently to the Atlanta Southern Association club for Joe Guyon. He intended he declared, to devote his entire time hereafter to his insurance and sporting goods businesses in Norfolk.

Robertson came to the Richmond club from the New York Giants at the beginning of last season under an agreement which he claims provided that he was to be made a free agent at the end of the year. His trade to the Crackers came as a severe jolt to him and, he has declared, rather than accept the cut in salary that has been declared would be necessary from his shift from manager-player to player he decided to quit the game. Too, the former Giant star, is anxious to play near his home and to this end is known to have refused several offers more remunerative than the job he had here.

STODDARD QUITS AND A SHAKE-UP IS LOOKED FOR

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—America's chances to retain the international polo cup in the challenge match with the Hurlingham club at the Meadowbrook club, Westbury, Long Island, took a slump today with the announcement that Louise E. Stoddard, veteran Number 1, had retired and that Luis Lacey and David Miles of the Argentine federation four would probably be candidates for the British team.

Mr. Stoddard, who has been president of the United States Polo Association for two years said he retired principally to give an incentive to the younger men in the game. He has regarded as one of the greatest forward players in polo history, and a fixture whenever America put forward her best.

His loss may mean a shakeup of the three remaining players who brought back the cup from Hurlingham in 1921, as there was talk of moving J. Watson Webb, the regular Number 3 to Number 1, and leaving his position to be contested for by some of the younger players, such as the two Belmonts, Morgan and Raymond, Malcolm Stevens and Robert E. Strawbridge, Jr.

In any event the association will not be embarrassed for lack of material since in Major A. H. Wilson of the Army four, which won the international military championship, one of the best forwards now riding could be used, and Major Louis Beard, a star back, could be set in Webb's place.

Left for the defending four will be Devereaux Milburn, international famous back, Tommy Hitchcock, who played Number 2 at Hurlingham and since has shown himself to be one of the greatest players in the world—he and Milburn are the only two 16 goal men in the United States—Webb, a left hander whose rating this year was reduced from 10 to 5.

Schaefer Put Up Brilliant Game In Beating Hoppe

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Young Jake Schaefer, challenger, defeated Willie Hoppe, 3-0, here last night in the first block of their 1500 point challenge match for the 18.2 balk line billiard championship.

Schaefer played a steady and at times brilliant game, going out in 17 innings, with an unfinished run of 45 and an average of 38.6-10.

Schaefer's control and his judgement of distance was near perfect but frequently line ups during his long runs indicated that his judgement of speed was not so good. In his hit run of 170 he had to play 13 masses and 10 bank shots.

Hoppe's failure to score big runs may have been due to the many hard shots Jake left him. However, when able to get the ivory he displayed the same billiard technique that has kept him champion many years and during the block got away with the high run of the night, 130, and another of 112. His average was 36.9-12.

FIRPO IS GIVEN ULTIMATUM IN S. A.

(By the Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 21.—The South American Boxing Confederation passed a resolution today declaring that Luis Angel Firpo must accept within sixty days from December 8 last the challenge for the South American heavyweight championship from the C. Jean heavyweight Quintin Romero-Rojas now living in France. It also ruled that the match must take place within ninety days of the same date or Firpo will be deprived of his title.

WILL BAD EYES STOP YOUNG SHUGRUES?

Will bad eye sight stop the third of the Shugrues?

Joe Shugrue, a great lightweight, at the height of his form on account of bad eyesight, Shugrue once knocked out Benny Leonard. He was that good.

John Shugrue came along later and took up the lightweight case, and where his older brother left off, John's eyes bothered him, too, and the other night he was virtually knocked into retirement by Pat Moran. Shugrue couldn't see after the fourth round.

Now comes the third of the Shugrues, Willie, youngest of the lot. Willie made his debut recently and won in impressive style. His eyes appear to be perfectly normal. Will they stay that way?

Too Many Managers

Senior Spauld is heavily burdened with managers. Here in America a "coterie" of genius profits to be his business representatives. Now comes word that Spauld's European managers have matched him with Firpo in South America.

Mack Figures On Landing His Team In First Division

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—The usually reticent Connie Mack is already making the prediction that he will finish in the first division.

Mack figures there are four clubs that he should beat out the coming season, Boston, Washington, St. Louis and Chicago. He feels that New York, Detroit and Cleveland will again make the pace.

Connie is set on landing in fourth place or possibly higher. He feels he has a chance to open a new era in the game. However, he feels the Yankees as a bit too much for his club and says that unless he can get them, the New York club should stay a season.

Mack is a much of his hopes in the fact that Second Base, Dan Breen, secured from Baltimore, and Outfielders Strand, of St. Louis and Simmons of Milwaukee will add to his team.

C., on January 30th, and then on his tour to the East with stops at Savannah, Georgia, February 1, Shreveport, La., February 4; El Paso, Texas, February 6; and Hot Springs, Arkansas, February 8. According to tentative dates announced today by Jack Kearns' manager for Dempsey.

GOLF THREATENS TO BREAK UP THE EXPERTS MEETING

By HENRY WALES.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—Golf threatens to disrupt the experts committee to determine Germany's ability to pay reparations. Brigadier General Daves is all discouraged because his English conference will not work the week ends, insisting on taking Saturday, Sunday and Monday mornings off to bat the elusive gutta-percha spheroid over the classic greens of Chantilly and Fontaine Bleau links.

From reliable sources the Tribune is informed that General Daves complained and protested on several occasions because the French are hostile.

"When we have something important to accomplish," he declared, "we must have our evenings, weekends and nights and do not take time off to play golf or anything else." General Daves is reported to have commented.

It is an undeniable fact that on Monday the first day on which the experts meet, General Daves announced to newspapermen that there would be a night setting also, but at 7 o'clock when he returned to the Ritz for dinner with Owen D. Young he announced that the night meeting had been abandoned.

The Tribune's information states that General Daves had a detailed plan for the work of the committee, providing for splitting up into two sub-committees, one for dealing with finance and the other with the budget, and providing that these two sub-committees be divided up further to handle the various phases of the questions involved.

COLLEGES IN NEW SECTIONS DEMAND GRID RECOGNITION

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 21.—With the expansion of football westward, a new section rises to bid for recognition with the universities of the left.

For two days the experts have examined the Belgian proposals, which will be the basis of their work. Moreover, the conditions have changed drastically in the chamber since June, when the Belgians drafted their proposals for productive gages and it is necessary that they be entirely revised.

General Daves believes that the experts must visit Berlin and other parts of Germany to properly bring the Belgian plans to date and he advocates starting as soon as possible.

The first big success came on New Year Day, 1921, when Uncle Charlie Moran brought his Centre College Praying Colonels to Dallas to engage the Texas A. & M. Southwestern Conference champions. It was Centre's year. The team had mopped up on everything, including Harvard, and had added a victory in an inter-sectional brawl on the Pacific Coast.

The victory, spread abruptly here when the Texas Farmers turned the tables and won the game.

This year the same team defeated University of the South in an inter-sectional game here. A week later Texas and Vanderbilt went into their annual duel. Vandy had held Michigan to a 3 to 0 score the week previous. Texas Longhorns outlasted Vanderbilt 16 to 0.

Southwestern Conference rules made last year prohibit post season games in the future. The inter-sectional angle may be reduced as a result because it is difficult to bring the eastern teams here during the regular season. However, the Texas A. & M., Sewanee and Texas-Vandy games may continue. The Longhorns hope also to add Notre Dame to their schedule for 1925.

Baldwin Beaten; Labor to Assume British Reins

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Conservative administration of a few months under Stanley Baldwin as prime minister, which might have enjoyed a life of years but for its espousal of protection, was dismissed by the House of Commons tonight with a vote of lack of confidence.

The labor amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne declaring that it was the duty of the House "respectfully to submit to your majesty and your majesty's present advisers have not the confidence of the House" which was introduced several days ago was adopted by a vote of 328 to 255. Only nine Liberals voted with the government against the amendment.

Seldom has a political event of foremost importance been enacted with so little excitement. The only tense moments being those when the tellers were counting the votes. There was a crowded house with the galleries filled with peers, diplomats and ladies, but they had not come expecting any surprise or conflict, but merely to see the obsequies performed according to previous arrangements. The chief figures in the debate were Premier Baldwin and Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, but the speeches were not emotional and lacked bitterness.

Foremost in all minds was the fact that the Labor party takes up the reins.

The Ultimatum

Bill's! Bill's! Bill's! According to your butcher and grocery bills for last month we must have eaten eight meals a day. You'll have to call a halt to this extravagance.

That's just what I want to talk to you about. I want a regular monthly allowance. You're in a position now to pay it. I'm getting tired of this monthly cross-examination.

What do you mean allowance? I suppose you expect me to pay you a monthly salary to act as president of Gump and Company. You need my business ability to protect you. Giving you an allowance would be about as safe as giving a baby a box of matches to play with.

You know what it costs a month to run this house. I'm tired of begging you for money to pay for the food you eat. The poor married slaves of this country need another Lincoln to free them. We are not paupers. You can well afford to give your wife an allowance of $6000 on the first of every month.

Good! A month would over-feed an army. For that money you could serve humming-birds on toast at every meal. You're like all the rest of the women nowadays. Ten cents worth of what you buy goes on the table and ninety cents worth goes into the garbage pail. Do you realize the food an American family throws away would feed a whole family in Europe?

Well, this house is going to be run on the American plan. If you don't like it go to Europe. Then instead of paying $18.25 each month for a pair of shoes you can buy a pair of wooden shoes for thirty cents. They'll last a life-time. Do you realize that what you spend on your laundry would keep a European family in clothes for two years? I want an allowance. Give your wife some money. Someone who needs them.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

Thomson & McKinnon
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The news from Washington is not good. The progress on the tax bill is going to be very slow. The investigation by a senate committee of the leasing of a naval oil reserve in not going to do the market any good.

The change in the British government may become a fact at any moment. It may not be bearish at all. It is too early to say but it does mean uncertainty for the moment.

Activity in a few very high priced stocks is not of particular value to the market. The one department of the market where I think there is a lot of room for bullish activity is the oil department but here as elsewhere we have the speculative, the good and the very good, the latter, of course, include the standard issues.

GUINEA PIGS II
Guinea pigs breed at a very early age. They become mature when about a month old, but should not be allowed to breed so early.
The fecundity of guinea pigs has been greatly exaggerated. The erroneous idea that they breed every six weeks and common have litters of 12 each has become quite prevalent. As a matter of fact, many other rodents are far more prolific. The period of gestation varies from 63 to 70 days, and ordinarily five litters may be expected in a year, averaging about three young each.
Young guinea pigs are well developed when born, have the eyes open and are fully furred. They are soon able to run about freely and within a day or two begin to take food other than the mother's milk. When five or six months old the young females should be distributed to breeding pens. The males should be chosen from among animals older than the young females. Inbreeding is not considered harmful unless continued for eight or ten generations.
As already stated, guinea pigs are not subject to many diseases. Their susceptibility to ailments is closely related to the quality, quantity and kind of food eaten. Improper, irregular and deficient feeding are common causes of inflammation of the stomach, from which losses among the animals may be very great. Sudden changes of temperature, particularly downward to the freezing point, and insufficient and improper ventilation are common causes of pneumonia, which is extremely fatal among guinea pigs.
Bountiful and judicious feeding, cleanliness of surroundings, pure water, abundant room, reasonably constant temperature and proper ventilation are almost certain preventives of disease. The coats of guinea pigs should not be allowed to become wet, and the hutch should be carefully guarded against dampness, which is a common cause of fatalities among animals.
The chief enemy of the guinea pig is the common rat. This pest is popularly supposed to avoid premises where guinea pigs are kept. On the contrary, it is attracted by the grain feed, and will not only steal the food of the cages but has been known to gnaw through the hutch walls and devour the young.
